E.L. Hamm conducted on-site and remote acquisition and procurement management reviews, assessing the quality of the acquisitions executed and administered by the various Offices of Acquisition. Tasks included reviewing over 1,000 government-selected acquisition files, over 100 internal controls, and each assigned office's workforce development. Analysts also assessed the information management and stewardship practices and policies of government client-owned or -operated systems and modules. Finance and budget management practices were also reviewed. Key vendors, staff, and program officials were interviewed to further identify areas of risk. Analysts developed corrective action plans to control and mitigate risks identified during the assessment. Formal findings and recommendations were provided in a Report of Findings and shared with executive management. E.L. Hamm's President or other senior management personally acted as Program or Project Manager, ensuring that services were provided timely and within budget.
